“ Thank you all for the kind words and memories of my grandma. She showed me how to be strong and taught me so much more. I have way too many memories of her to share here.

*Grandma,
I will think of you and miss you the rest of my days. I will keep the traditions you passed on going and pass them on to my children. I will remember the love that you had for your family and hope that I am able to show them as much. A piece of my heart went with you when you left, but the pain is lessened knowing that grandpa's and your hearts are whole once again. We love you and miss you so much. You are always with us.*

Until the day we meet again..

“ There are so many adjectives i could use to describe Jeanette Olson; compassionate, trustworthy, solid.
i think anyone who knew Jeanette well will have gained valuable life lessons, became a better person for having known her. i know i have.
i saw a skit once, and though it was meant to be funny, it made sense to me. the premise of the skit was that a person's life is a job, the ultimate job.
what i would like to say to my friend Jan is "job well done. you will be missed."
