“ I have fond memories of my "Auntie Marcie" my dad, Frank B Wambach's sister. Aunt Marcie enjoyed learning. She was very bright and had an inquisitive mind. I remember going grocery shopping with her and in the produce section we came across some strange thick stalks being sold. It was sugar cane. She bought some and told me, "now we can take this home and taste the real sweetness of sugar". The stalk was thick and tough to cut. We bit into it and sucked hard. It was the first time either of us had ever tasted sugar cane juice. It was sweet. Indeed! And for me, it was a fun, educational, and memorable experience! Aunt Marcie was interested in current affairs and the latest political news of the day. She was an upbeat happy person; always positive and hopeful. I still have the little blue glass elephant that she gave to me at my birth. It is in my china-closet til this very day. I look at it and smile; thinking of "My Aunt Marcie". Aloha to all who knew her. Nancy Wambach Wond, Aiea Hawaii.
